RETIREMENT OF A PUBLISHER.—Mr. A. McElroy, who, for the last thirty years, has published the Philadelphia Directory, has disposed of the entire property to Mr. James Gopeill, who was the publisher of a rival Directory for the year 1867. By this retirement of Mr. McElroy, there will be but one Directory for 1868.

Colonel Bingham, our worthy Postmaster, has determined to uniform his carrier and messenger torce, so that our citizens will hereafter have no difficulty in knowing our post office officials. The uniform consists of a jacket made of cadet grey cloth, double-breasted, seven buttons each with a United States mail carrier mounted on a horse, wristbands and collar same material, with black stripe down the side. The badge on the sleeve will indicate the service of the men; one knot, one year, etc. The jacket is not only economical, but more convenient than to ccat with skirus. All carriers are now authorized to collect letters from all firms. All registered letters will hereafter be delivered by the car-riers. The carriers are all under bonds, and Colonel Bingham has secured a corps of men industrious, capable, and honest.

AMUSEMENTS.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC,—The Grown Diamonds was not performed last evening, owing to the sudden illness of Mrs. Seguin. Sonnambula was substituted, and gave general satisfaction. This evening the Lity of Killarney will be pre-sented for the last time. To-morrow (Wednesday) Mr. Edward Seguin, the buffo of the com-pany, will take his benefit, when the Rose of Castile will be presented. Mr. Seguin is an ad-mirable artiste, and has hosts of friends who will remember him to-morrow night. On Friday, Faust, for the benefit of Miss Richings, CHESNUT STREET THEATRE,-Charles Reade's beautiful dramatization of Alfred Tennyson's Dora was produced in excellent style last night, and made a very favorable impression. It is the neatest dramatic gem of the times. Mrs. Bowers as "Dora," and Miss Josic Orton as "Mary Morrison," acted with true spirit, great effect, and in a delicate style. Mr. Leake and Mr. McManus, also acquitted themselves credi-tably but the triumph of the occasion was the tably, but the triumph of the occasion was the old, self-willed, but justice-loving "Farmer Allan," of Mr. W. H. Sedley Smith. His acting the part was superb. WALNUT STREET THEATRS. — Mr. John Brougham and his new play, The Lottery of Life, made a h t last night. The house was very full and the applause general. The new drama will be repeated this evening.

AT THE ARCH Surf continues in its successful career, with Mrs. Drew and the whole company in the cast. AT THE AMERICAN the new pantomime called the Red Gnome is very popular. MENDELSSOHN SOCIETY'S FIRST SUBSCRIPTION ONCERT .- A full hall, an enthusiastic audience, a long array of goodly names of performers, a skilful rendering of the programme, a general expression of satisfaction—these were the points to be remarked last night. Mr. Jean Louis, as the leading spirit of this fine musical organization, has occasion to teel proud of the results of his labors, which have not been small. The chorus of the Society sang to prove their careful drilling, and stamp them as the leading musical society of this city. Carl Sentz's fine orchestra told to great advantage in this well-balanced

Messrs, Habelmann, Harkins, Sartori, and Thunder were vaciferously applauded in their soles, and there was the best feeling shown to the performers by the audience. The city owes much to this association, which by their efforts rate the standard of musical cuttivation among their members, and thus disseminate a pure taste throughout the community. This is a most auspictous opening of the season of this energetic and enterprising society.

MRS. F. W. LANDER AS "ELIZABETH."- Regarding the appearance of Mrs. Lander as "Ediza-beth," in our sister city, the New York Tribuna " in our sister city, the New York Tribune, in a leading editorial, said:—
"Mrs. F. W. Lander, who will to-night appear at the French Theatre, in a translation of the tragedy of Etizabeih, is a lady whose genius has ever been devoted to the highest range of art, and we welcome her popularity as a proof that the legitimate drama has only to appeal to the to find the fullest support. ter of "Elizabeth," made famous by Ristori, lost something of its effect by its performance in Italian. Mrs. Lander, in adding it to the list of her triumphs, will Americanize it."

MR. HENRY VINCENT'S LECTURES.-The cele brated English orator and reformer, Henry Vincent, lectures this evening, and also upon Thursday evening, before the Young Men's Christian Association, at Concert Hall. His subject to-night is "John Milton." This lecture made a deep impression when it was delivered in Philadelphia some two years since, and there is a general desire felt to hear it again,

Carl Sentz's Ornestra has no performance on Thanksgiving Day. Its ninth matinee on December 5 has a rich programme, Mendels-sohn's "Concerto" for pianos will be performed by our well-known townsman, Mr. C. H. Jarvis, who plays with orchestra accompaniment for the first time since his recent travels in Europe, where his playing attracted great attention wherever he was heard.

NOTICE TO MARINERS

Ca; tain Wm. Reynolds, commanding U. S. steamer Lackawanna, reports, under date of August 20, 1867, from Brooke Island, North Pacific Ocean:—

We ran over the following named and numbered localities of laisands and reefs published in the "List of Reported Dangers in the Pacific Ocean" (Bureau of Navigation, Navy Department, Washington, 1856), and found no trace of any of them:—

No 212, Pollard's Reef. No. 125 with no name: No. 189, Bunker Island; No. 149, Delaware Reef; No. 119, with no name: No. 131, Massachusetts Island.

We, however, made Pearl and Hermea Reef (No. 144) about 8 A. M. on August II. and ran round it. and surveyed it. It is a reef of small extent, about fineen miles from E. to W., and ten miles from N. to S. The latitude and longitude of its centre is 27 51 N., and 178 49 W., nearly.

Our anchorage on the SW, portion of this reef (Brooker Island) is in lat, 28 15 N., lon, 177 24 W., which answers to the position of Sand Island, Nos. 135 and We are going on with the survey of this island, but answers to the position of Sand Island, Nos. 135 and 186.

We are going on with the survey of this island, but have been interrupted somewhat by bad weather, during which we lost two anchors.

Cur examinations thus far make the circumference of the reef and islands about twenty miles. We have not found an entrance into the lagoon, nor is it probable that any such opening now exists. There is, however, a small basin on the western side of the small island, cut off from the lagoon by shoal water, which may prove to be a good harbor. The schr Milton Badger is anchored in this harbor, and I shall survey it when through with the outside work.
